OX App Suite A Platform for Business

OX App Suite is a modular platform designed to deliver a wide range of cloud based services for Telco's, Hosters and Providers: services such as email, file sharing, collaboration, text creation, time management, storage solutions, voice and video messaging, full integration with existing telephony systems and more.

Available either as a hosted or on-premise solution, OX App Suite provides a highly scalable white-labeled platform that enhances customer engagement and satisfaction significantly. This allows providers to maximize revenue, increase customer retention, promote recirculation and drive upsell.

OX App Suite lets customers create attractive bundles for existing target markets, and expand into new markets, or niches, by creating experimental bundles to drive trial in those segments.

For example upgrading an existing system, while at the same time creating higher value complementary bundles to upsell existing users and attract new users from new segments.

Bundles are flexible and can include both Open-Xchange and third party applications. This makes it possible to integrate with existing web based services to promote more cross sell opportunities and ultimately increase revenue.

OX App Suite is an open platform that can either be deployed as a middleware solution or as a complete stack. As a middleware solution it can easily be integrated into your current infrastructure (email server, storage, etc.).
